Auto- Charge Date: The auto-charge date is the date your card on file will be auto-charged for the next session. This date is one week before a new session starts.

Your tuition for the next session will be put on your account on the drop date or one week before your card on file will be auto-charged. If you would like to pay by cash, by check in person, or by a different credit card in your portal you have from this date until the charge date to do so. Otherwise, your card will be auto charged for the next session on the Charge Date. Any outstanding balances open the 1st day of a new session will also incur a $10 late charge.
